SUNBLASTER™ FACT SHEET

Directions for use: SunBlaster™ is transparent when dry. Spray on let evaporate no need to rub in, re-apply in 15 minutes to ensure full coverage. The easy application and cool sensation encourages frequent reapplication.

Who uses SunBlaster™?

SunBlaster™ is endorsed by the NZPGA, it is the sun screen of choice at the NZ Iron Man, the sun screen of choice for Emirates Team New Zealand, during the 2009 Louis Vuitton Pacific Series and The Americas Cup Challenges. Professional movie and film crews like Walt Disney Company, Ranger Productions Pinewood Studios, Pirates of the Caribbean movie "On Stranger Tides" and of course the Hobbit all use Sun-Blaster™.

What about that sticky or greasy feeling?

None of that with SunBlaster™, it evaporates in seconds, won't migrate onto your hands or into your eyes.

Can SunBlaster™ be used safely on the face?

Yes, close your eyes spray on, wait for the evaporation and you are protected. Remember to re apply regularly, every 60 to 80 minutes. (as with all sun screens)

Is Sunscreen really necessary 12 months of the year?

Short answer yes, studies show that the sun is the major contributor to aging of the skin. Although the UV concentration is not as high in winter it will still be doing damage. Recommendations from leading Dermatologists are, to use sunscreen even on cloudy days all 4 seasons.

Is SunBlaster™ going to stain my clothes?

It shouldn't do, when used as directed, but it's possible that this may happen if a very large amount of product is applied or, more importantly, if the product comes in contact with a susceptible fabric. Many users have reported that, unlike conventional products, SunBlaster™ does not stain clothing. If you have concerns the best thing is to test SunBlaster™ on an 'invisible' part of the garment which you're concerned about, and leave it for some hours to see if there is any reaction.

Does SunBlaster™ provide protection against UVA as well as UVB?

Sun-Blaster™ contains three active ingredients. One is a UVB absorber, another is a UVA absorber and the third straddles the spectrum between the two. UVB causes sunburn, whilst it is increasingly believed that UVA triggers the changes that lead to the development of melanoma (in susceptible individuals). Sun-Blaster provides protection across a broad spectrum of UV radiation.

Can I use SunBlaster™ with make-up?

Yes! SunBlaster™ was first used by the film production industry on Xena – Warrior Princess and Hercules. It has subsequently been used in numerous other New Zealand productions such as The Hobbit, The Last Samurai, (who ordered 90 gallons of it), Whale-Rider, The Lord of the Rings, Mercy Peak, The Strip, Legend of the Seeker, Power Rangers, Spartacus and numerous other TV productions. There have been numerous overseas movie productions, just recently Pirates of the Caribbean in Hawaii, and Steven Spielberg's War Horse movie in Europe.

Is SunBlaster™ safe to use on children?

SunBlaster™ is an excellent sunscreen for children – because it's so easy and convenient to apply - and re-apply! For very young children it is important to make sure that the product is not sprayed into their eyes, refer to directions and warnings on the label or at www.dox.co.nz

Is insect repellent compatible with Sun-Blaster™?

Formal testing for this has not been undertaken, but subjective feedback from users suggests that when used together the efficacy of both the insect repellent and the sun screening abilities of Sun-Blaster™ is maintained.

How Economical?

With the single exception that SunBlaster is COOL, Light and Easy to use which means most people actually use more SunBlaster than conventional lotions, YES! Surprisingly economical, SunBlaster™ is a liquid so a little bit goes a long way. Because it is sprayed on in a fine mist and not rubbed on as conventional creams and lotions the consumption rates are very different for the same amount of protection.

Plus you can re-use, refill and recycle all SunBlaster bottles.
